Tori's 13th Birthday-Fundraiser Donates $1,110.00 To The Pet Project Foundation

> By Julissa Deckard

Philanthropy took on a new and surprisingly youthful face when 13 year-old, Tori J. Deckard, a St. Margaret's Episcopal School 7th grader, paved the way for an unparalleled decision to raise funds for the South Orange County Pet Project Foundation by holding a fundraiser on January 8, 2008 at the Dana Point Youth & Group Facility in Dana Point, CA.

Affected by the news of how the 2007 California Wildfires impacted the local animal shelters, Tori was moved to ask for donations, instead of receiving birthday gifts.

DOGS ROCK!

> By Paula Becker

And they rock no better than at Pet Project Foundation's Wag-A-Thon. This is the day your dog has been looking forward to all year. Saturday, April 26, from 8:30-1:00 in the beautiful Dana Point Harbor, you and your dog will enjoy music, the Disc Dogs in Southern California, goody bags loaded with gifts, and yummy food. Browse the Bowser Bazaar where vendors will be barking right up your tree with their wares. Participate with your dog in our pet contests. Or sit on the sideline and cheer on your favorite. Dash your doggie in the Doggie Dashes to try to win a prize. Your dog will be very excited to meet movie dog star Charlie, who plays Nicodemus in "License to Wed." Maybe he will even be giving pawtographs! Go to www.PetProjectFoundation.org to register for this fund-raiser. All profits go to support the animals at the San Clemente-Dana Point Animal Shelter. ■

With the help of her parents, the fundraiser was organized and their motivated efforts led to raising $1,110.00 for The Pet Project Foundation.

"Tori continues to inspire us with her very caring and generous heart," "we're so proud of her willingness and all of the hard work she put into this project", commented her mother and father Julissa & Mark Deckard.

Editor's Comment: Pet Project Foundation wishes to thank Tori and her parents for their dedication to all the lost, abandoned and relinquished animals at the San Clemente-Dana Point Pro-humane Animal Shelter. They can be assured that these funds will be spent caring for these animals until they find their forever homes. ■

NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS

> By Ruth Rosen

It is always heartwarming to learn of young students willing to give of their time for the animals at the shelter. In the picture above are: Samatha Pierce, Emily Dodson, Anna Tsitsivas, Natalie Lord and Jordan Witherspoon. These ten year old girls held a bake sale, in order to raise money for the shelter animals. Their hard work netted them $42.75, which they donated to the shelter. GOOD WORK LADIES and keep it up!

The holidays have come and quickly gone. Also gone for many are the New Year resolutions made. Let's see; resolved to lose weight, eat a healthful diet and quit the fast foods, join a gym and stick to it, clean out the closet and get rid of "stuff" not worn for a year. Well maybe you did not keep those resolutions but here is one to seriously think about. The animals at the San Clemente-Dana Point Animal Shelter need your help. How do they need your help? In two ways: By financially supporting Pet Project Foundation, the volunteer support group for the shelter, you can contribute to providing a safe environment with two meals a day, and medical necessities such as neutering/spaying, veterinarian care, operations when necessary, medicines, and more. The second way you can help is by donating three hours a week of your time to volunteer at the shelter. There is always a major need for people to walk dogs, socialize cats, hop bunnies, and work at the front desk. We volunteers would love to have your support, so if you can help financially or by volunteering some of your time (or even both), please contact Pet Project Foundation at (949) 595-8899 and a volunteer will happily return your call. If you haven't been to our shelter, please come visit, get acquainted and say hello to the volunteers. We welcome you and hope you will join us! ■

COCOA AND TILLIE

> By Cheryl Kazoleas

When best friends come to the San Clemente–Dana Point Animal Shelter, they need to stay together. At least that is the belief of Sandra Ackerman, a long-time volunteer and board member of Pet Project Foundation, the fundraising organization for the pro-humane shelter.

So it only took a few months before Ackerman, a shelter office volunteer, decided she could not let Cocoa, a 6-year-old miniature chocolate poodle, and his pal, Tillie, a 7-year-old toy poodle/Yorkshire terrier mix, languish in the shelter any longer.

The furry pair came to the shelter in April 2007 when their owner, a senior citizen, no longer could care for them. Because they are older, Cocoa and Tillie often were passed by for younger dogs when adopters came to visit. What's more, the shelter staff and PPF wanted to adopt them out together to honor the wishes of their former owner. When shelter management began discussing possibly finding them separate homes to speed their adoption, Ackerman decided to take action.

"There was no way I was going to let them be separated," she said.

The rest, as the saying goes, is history. After months of watching Cocoa and Tillie get passed by time and again Ackerman decided to adopt them. She brought them to their new home in November. Inseparable and insecure at first, the two buddies have now begun venturing around the house independently, expressing confidence and contentment in their new surroundings. Neither of them have health issues. Ackerman, who was instrumental in the foundation of Friends of the San Clemente Animal Shelter, has owned dogs since 1965.

"In the end thank goodness [Sandra] came forth to take both, because we could fulfill the previous owner's wishes," said Brynn Lavison, animal services supervisor at the shelter, noting that she herself is most concerned for the older dogs, who typically take longer to place in loving homes.

Cocoa and Tillie found their happy outcome. "I have a soft spot for older dogs, because they shouldn't be at the shelter," Ackerman echoed. "They should be in a warm house in a warm bed with people who love them."

Footnote: Friends of the San Clemente Animal Shelter joined with another nonprofit animal rescue group; Animal Rescue Foundation of Dana Point. Together, they became Pet Project Foundation, the support group for the San Clemente–Dana Point Animal Shelter where every animal has a temporary home while awaiting their forever home. ■

WISHES CAN COME TRUE!

> By Ruth Rosen

Do you want to help the lost and abandoned animals that end up at the San Clemente–Dana Point Animal Shelter? Well you can, and it is both beneficial to them and to you. Here's how it works. Pet Project Foundation can help you set up a charitable gift annuity plan. It is easily done by you for the benefit of the animals. While it provides Pet Project Foundation with an immediate gift, it will provide you, the donor, with a steady income, of which a portion is tax free!

For more information and to receive a brochure, please call Pet Project Foundation at: 949-495-8899 and a volunteer will happily call you back. Or, visit our website at: www.petprojectfoundation.org

A SPECIAL THANK YOU FROM THE "PAWPARAZZI"

Thank you to all who attended the 7th Annual 'A Tail of Two Cities'. We had a fabulous time, with great food and excellent company at the Laguna Cliffs Marriott Resort & Spa in Dana Point.

Once again, "A Tail of Two Cities" was made possible by our hard working Pet Project Foundation volunteers, as well as our generous sponsors and donors – all for the benefit of the animals in our care at the pro-humane San Clemente–Dana Point Animal Shelter. A heart felt thank you to all who gave so much time, love and effort to this event.

Pet Project Foundation remains dedicated to providing a safe haven for the lost and abandoned animals of our communities until they find their forever home. Wonderful and generous people like you make this all possible.

Thank you for your loving support!

SYLVIA AND JIMINEE

> By Esther Home & Sarah Prella

Her deep brown eyes stunned him immediately, as she gave him a playful glance. Knowing they had so much in common, it was nearly impossible to not go over and sniff her thoroughly. They both came from the "dog police" (known by humans as the animal shelter). Though from what he had heard from the collie down the road, "Sylvia" had been there for over two years!

Jiminee Cricket gazed at her again longingly. He wasn't sure if a female of her beauty would give him the time of day. He also had a rough start, and at only eight weeks had been thrown around from place to place. Thankfully, he ended up at the San Clemente–Dana Point Animal Shelter. Jiminee knew fate had now brought them together, or at least he hoped. She raised her gaze to meet his obvious stare, and his heart beat quickened, his legs trembled. She turned from him and skipped down the hall, looking back at him invitingly. He grabbed his favorite toy and galloped after her, hoping to offer it to her.

She was now lying casually in his bed, her eyes blinking at him. He tried to act indifferent as he sauntered over to her and dropped the treasured fleece squirrel in front of her. She grabbed it greedily, and rolled over, tummy up, squeaking it happily. He breathed easier now, relieved that the ice had been broken.

That encounter began a long relationship. Jiminee and Sylvia are quite inseparable now. Breakfast on Sundays, regular off-leash nature jaunts, and afternoon cuddling made the two of them fall more and more in love. Who knows where they would have ended up had it not been for the snip, snip at the vets! Jiminee thinks about that every day. ■

PET STORES CAN BECOME "BUNNY FRIENDS"

> By Michelle Harris

Thanks to a program being started by the Pet Project Foundation rabbit volunteers, local pet stores will have the opportunity to become "Bunny Friends". A "Bunny Friend" is a pet store that promotes rabbit adoptions but does not sell rabbits. This helps us keep down the rabbit overpopulation and reduces the number of rabbits that will end up in our shelter.

In return for not selling bunnies and promoting adoptions, the stores are recognized as "Bunny Friends" on the Pet Project Foundation website and in our newsletter. Cindy Fisher, the rabbit care and evaluation representative had this to say, "The Bunny Friends program will help us build better relationships with our local pet stores, encourage responsible adoptions, and reduce the number of unwanted rabbits that end up at our shelter. The pet stores will benefit from the acknowledgment, which will let consumers know that the stores' management cares about animals and the community. The stores, the shelter, and the bunnies all win!"

The rabbit volunteers hope the "Bunny Friends" program will help educate new bunny owners, help with the adoption and have a working relationship with the community. ■

DOG BISCUITS ANYONE?

> By Cheryl Kazoleas

If homemade peanut butter bones and mackerel-filled cat treats are your pet's fancy, what better place to buy them than from Pet Project Foundation.

Since May 2006, PPF has run a table at the San Clemente Village Art Fair, held on Avenida Del Mar in the city's downtown, on the first Sunday of every month.

The group, which sells everything from dog biscuits and dog sweaters to "human" items such as PPF t-shirts and visors, has raised more than $3,500 over the past 20 months. The proceeds from these events go to help all the dogs, cats, bunnies and other critters that find their way to the San Clemente–Dana Point Animal Shelter every year. PPF also offers art fair patrons the opportunity to sponsor a pet, pick up shelter volunteer applications and view photos of the many animals up for adoption.

PPF began working at the Village Art Fair after volunteer Cheryl Kazoleas contacted Nanci Mavar, the head of San Clemente's Downtown Business Association and coordinator of the event, in early 2006. Mavar graciously welcomed PPF to the fair, and volunteers have helped run the table ever since. Kazoleas, now the secretary of PPF, and fellow volunteer Jennifer Labrie, now the president of PPF, worked together monthly to give PPF a presence at the event. Other PPF volunteers, including Maria Bennett, Kay Lehmacher, Sue Walshe, Christine Sebring and Suzi Jordan have been instrumental in baking homemade treats for sale, or working this monthly event.

"The Art Fair has enabled PPF to bring in needed funds for shelter animals, particularly to help with our growing medical expenses," Kazoleas said. "But almost more importantly, our participation has allowed us to share with the community information on what we do, and bring much needed attention to the dogs, cats and bunnies that are looking for loving homes."

Kazoleas said other Art Fair vendors have been generous, often donating items for PPF to sell.

"The Art Fair brings together not only talented and creative people but also showcases the generosity of others to nonprofit causes," Kazoleas said.

This year, Sebring, a PPF volunteer and board member, will coordinate the group's table at the Village Art Fair.

Those interested in volunteering at or baking for the event can contact Cheryl Kazoleas, at ckazoleas@yahoo.com. ■

Pet Project Foundation

Lost and abandoned animals have a second chance at a good life— thanks to the Pet Project Foundation (PPF) and the San Clemente-Dana Point Animal Shelter. The mission of the Pet Project Foundation is “to enhance the quality of life of all companion animals in a pro-humane manner through compassion, responsibility, education and service”. Nowhere is this mission better exemplified than through our ongoing support of the shelter. This special shelter provides food, housing, exercise, medical care, and love for homeless animals until they are reunited with their owners or permanent, loving homes are found. Call PPF at 949-595-8899 or visit our web site at:
www.petprojectfoundation.org

- I would like to vote on board elections, special meetings, and bylaw changes.
- Please send me information on making a bequest, trust gift, or other ultimate gift to express my support for the animals in the care of PPF.
